

SPC 2608 – Public Speaking

Course Description: This course is designed to introduce basic information about speaking in relatively formal situations of public communication. Emphasis will be on understanding the rhetorical principles of speech composition and preparation, verbal and non-verbal skills of delivery and critical listening. Practical speaking opportunities will be provided to help apply this information and to guide in evaluating the effectiveness of your speaking and the speaking of others.